About the test case in Question 1.2 and Qestion 4

The test cases use a rand() function to form an array randomly in order to test the code.

Run the program, enter 1 to initializing the list, then enter an integer to determine the total length of the array. You can enter 11 to display the list.